Benefit Splitting on Divorce Michael Hallinan

> Benefit Splitting following divorce is becoming more common. Do you know how to help your client implement a Benefit Splitting Agreement or a Splitting Order of the Family Court? Is it simply a journal entry from one member account to another? What paperwork is required to be completed? What are the tax consequences of the benefit split for each party? This session will take you through a Benefit Splitting Agreement highlighting the required steps and the traps for both trustees and their advisers.

MICHAEL HALLINAN BA, LLB, Grad Dip Sec.& App. Inv., FTIA Michael is a Special Counsel for the Superannuation Division of Townsends Business & Corporate Lawyers and a legal adviser to SUPERCentral.

S.62A – The Traps Peter Townsend

> In NSW the fastest growing area of SMSF limited recourse borrowing is where the fund purchases business real property from the member and enjoys the stamp duty concession under s.62A of the Duties Act. Peter will outline how the federal and state laws interact, the traps for advisers when implementing such a strategy and some of the alternative ways of proceeding with the transaction.

PETER TOWNSEND BA, LLB, FAICD, FCLA Peter Townsend is a business and corporate lawyer with almost 35 years experience in advising participants in the superannuation, accounting and financial services industries.

Enforceability of Restraint Clauses David Nicoll

> A restraint clause in a contract prevents one party from poaching the other party's clients after the contract expires. It is surprising the number of people who say restraints are not enforceable. Nothing could be further from the truth. Following on from a number of cases he has handled recently, David Nicoll will provide a checklist of factors to consider for an enforceable restraint clause.

DAVID NICOLL LLB, B APP SC David is Head of the Dispute Management Division of Townsends Business & Corporate Lawyers, providing advice and legal support for businesses of all sizes involved in commercial disputes.

Best Choice Super – SMSFs vs Retail Funds Peter Townsend

> It's about time someone stood up for SMSFs. Hardly a day goes by without some pot-shot being taken at this exciting sector of the superannuation landscape. It shouldn't surprise anyone as to why the popularity of SMSFs seems to have no end. In this session we're going to remind you just how good SMSFs can be by reviewing how SMSFs stack up against retail and industry funds. We'll compare investment results as well as some of the features and benefits.
